

Corresponding Secretary Report

American Peony Society July 2020

The email address for the APS continues to increase in traffic. There has been a noticeable steady increase since the new webpage was uploaded. I expect this trend will continue as more information is posted on the site. The pandemic may have increased traffic as more people were home with extra spare time. I now respond to as many emails each month (excluding junk mail) as I used to for the entire year. A significant number of these have required assistance for information from other directors. I truly appreciate any input provided.

In this respect, I welcome the new directors and other volunteers who may be able to assist with information. Your responses make this volunteer position more pleasurable.
