

American Peony Society

Image and Print Content Use Policy

9/21/2021

BACKGROUND:

The American Peony Society solicits a variety of media information produced by members for use in publications, websites, social media and other platforms. Media includes, but is not limited to the following: articles, guides, announcements, advertisements, webpages, blogs, video, links, social media posts, digital images and photographs.

USE:

All submitted images and content used by the American Peony Society are owned by member authors and remains their property. Use permissions for images/content by non-APS entities remain with contributing members¹. Any use without the consent of the member author is considered unauthorized and deemed theft.

As a user of member images and content, the American Peony Society cannot grant reproduction and use permissions. Member authored images and print material used by the American Peony Society are protected under copyright.

Copyright 2021 ©American Peony Society and respective authors.

¹ APS cannot supply member owner/author names, upon request, for privacy reasons.