

Alice's Legacy, Caring for an Historic Garden in Kentucky
Saturday, April 12, 2025 10:30 CST
Presented by Melissa Sullivan

Join Melissa Sullivan for a discussion on how a collection of Saunders herbaceous hybrids has thrived for nearly 40 years in central Kentucky under close supervision of Lexington Garden Club members.

Come meet Alice Prewitt (1898-1985) master gardener, preservationist, and peony ambassador who began ordering and planting Saunders peonies at her home in Lexington, Kentucky as early as 1951. Photos of original orders from the Hamilton College archives show the provenance of this priceless collection which has recently been recognized by APS's Reference Garden Program.

Presented by Melissa Sullivan, APS Director and Garden Club of Lexington member.
