

Parker Short Biographical Sketch

Scott Parker is the owner of Parker's Peony & Perennial Farm, located in Tomah, Wisconsin. His contributions to the American Peony Society (APS) include service as President (past) and is currently a member of APS's Board of Directors. His many years of experience growing seeds and sharing information about the subject through the APS Seed Distribution program as the chairperson of the program. As founder and active leader of the Wisconsin Peony Society, Scott is instrumental in providing information and the enjoyment of peonies to members and the public. As peony collector, Scott grows a large number of herbaceous, woody and Intersectional peonies – many which are rarely seen in commerce. Hybridizing is of special interest and enjoyment. Through the use of controlled crosses, with a goal of creating new varieties, he aims to produce unique new cultivars which surpass those currently in commerce. Scott has extensive experience growing and propagating peonies and looks forward to sharing proven techniques and his personal observations.
